

Erasmus in Sicily

I assess the trip very positively. It was a great opportunity to expand your language skills, see beautiful places and meet new people from other countries. The trip was a great experience for me. The flight itself was a great adventure. As part of the program, we visited, among others the capital of Sicily - Palermo, a pasta factory, and also strolled around beautiful Nicosia. We spent free time integrating in the dances in the auditorium. In the "house" I was very pleased to be greeted. I certainly will not forget about my Italian family. Together, we visited the city, showed me Italian customs, and introduced me to a real Italian cuisine. Pizza, pasta .. what more could you want. Despite the small health problems, they did not turn away from me and bend over to help me. I believe that the level of my language has increased significantly. I also noticed that I became more open to new acquaintances as well as trying new tastes. After all, I would never eat a pizza with sausages, but it has become my favorite. I still have contact with the people we met there, we plan to meet everyone together outside the project. Maybe on holiday, who knows.
